In Memorial Jean Halden Walker 1922-2002

With deep regret we report the death on 3 June 2002 of Jean Halden Walker, a life charter member of the Austin Genealogical Society and a recognized authority on Austin and Travis County genealogy and history.

Jean was one of the group founding the Austin Genealogical Society in 1960 and she served the Society in many ways during the last 33 years. For the first three years of its existence she was the editor of this Quarterly. Coincidentally she helped found the Texas State Genealogical Society and she also was a charter life member of that Society. She became District 13 Representative for this area to the Texas State Genealogical Society in 1996 and set an admirable record of never having missed a meeting of that Society during her term of service. For the past three years she had been a Director of the Austin Genealogical Society, serving until last month when illness forced her to relinquish this service. She worked tirelessly with and at the Genealogical Collection at the Texas State Library. There is no accounting for the vast number of people, local and from afar, that she has assisted with advice or information concerning genealogical lines they were researching.

In May 2002 the Austin Genealogical Society presented Jean with a Resolution honoring her achievements in the profession of genealogy. A copy of that Resolution is on the following page.

The Editor and the Board of Directors of AGS join in expressing deep sympathy to her husband Charles and members of her family.

MOVING THROUGH THE YEAR

The AGS is squarely in the middle of a very busy year, with several sizeable projects underway and more in the offing. We're fortunate to have President James Hollas very efficiently handling the logistics of these projects.

Of most notice for the moment is our Cemetery Project, wherein we are in the process of surveying and cataloging all of the well over 300 cemeteries in Travis County. These are being published here as they become available, as well as being indexed on our website. Eventually we intend to assemble all of the surveys in book form for the use of future genealogists. If you feel that this issue is bulkier than normal, well, yes, it is. We are very pleased to print the register of the Live Oak cemetery on the south outskirts of Austin, which has over 3100 plots; by far the largest we have yet handled. This demanding work was done by volunteers George Rasor and Sandra Schmidt before they had even joined AGS. We commend and heartily thank these two fine people and know they will have much more of their talent to share with the Society in the future. Jean Shroyer is handling the overall Cemetery Project very well and can be reached at txjean@aol.com or 512-288-4131.

This June issue is our members' issue, available each year to each and every member for publishing whatever of their family history or genealogy they would like. This is a bit of an off year in that only six of our members made submissions; these you will find starting on Page 46. We wish more had come in, but the brevity of that section is enabling us to bring you the entire Live Oak Cemetery register rather than split it between two or more issues.

Then, of course, August 24 is approaching, the day of our annual Seminar. Our speaker is Jonathan D. Galli, who is Director of the Genealogical Speakers Guild. Now, if he directs a group of speakers you just have to assume he can speak at least as well and likely better than anyone else in the group. He comes highly recommended; you won't want to miss him. And for the first time we are having the Seminar at the Norris Conference Center in the Northcross Mall complex. This new center is built for seminars such as ours, it is new, and we know you will enjoy it. Plus, there should be plenty of parking for a change. A tear-out registration form is in the back of this issue. Please register early; it gives us a good clue as to how many meals, seats, etc. we need, and if you wait to register at the door you'll have to come up with another $3, and at-door registrations might have to be limited. Pat Oxley has this project moving right along. See you all there.

Just over the horizon is the Federation of Genealogical Societies annual national conference, which will be held here in Austin in year 2004. AGS and the Texas State Genealogical Society are co-hosts. This will be a great occasion for our city and our Society and we will keep you posted as developments occur. Marilyn Henley and Jeanne Toewe are doing all the pre-pre-planning necessary for this event which should bring hordes of genealogists from all over the nation to Austin.

A project which is just starting to shape up involves our intention to commit all previous issues of this Quarterly and their indexes, from the first issue in 1960 to the present, to digital form on CD's. We decided this would be preferable to maintaining several hundred back issues in the Quarterly Custodian's garage. At the same time it will make the vast amount of genealogy in those issues generally available. This Editor sometimes feels if he did nothing else in each new quarterly but reprint one of the past issues, it would be well worth it; genealogical information holds its value better than gold (and certainly most stocks!) Fred Toewe and James Hollas are developing the know-how for accomplishing this.

USING THE INTERNET FOR GENEALOGY

First V.P. Charles Locklin gave us at the May meeting an enjoyable and quite informative talk on a long list of websites which can be both useful and enjoyable as we do our in-home genealogy. Charles has a lot of know-how on this subject and he was gracious enough to do this for the people attending, and has also agreed to let us bring it to you here. Thanks, Charles, for both your knowledge and courtesy.

INTERNATIONAL ROOTS CONFERENCE

If you can't wait till 2004 to attend a genealogical conference on a national scale, you might be interested in the International Roots Conference to be held July 14-18 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn MI. This is a whopper. There will be 30 expert speakers serving as many as eight simultaneous sessions which will cover over 100 specific topics. Jack Perkins, well-known TV and Radio broadcaster, will be the banquet speaker. Go to website www.rootsconference.com for details.

AGS CHARTER

Our intended project of digitizing all quarterlies has caused us to glance through many of them, particularly the first several years. We found in the Sept. 1962 issue (Vol III, No. 3) a printing of the Society's recently obtained state charter which we thought might be interesting enough to reproduce here below. We still operate under this charter, which we will need to renew in 2011; just a reminder to the to-be officers in that year!! The issue also contains a list of charter members which we hope to reprint in a coming quarterly.

FULGHAM/JOHNSON.....doing a family search (from far afield); Great-great-grandfather GEORGE FRANKLIN FULGHAM [b. ca 1812 in Georgia] lived in Austin area from about 1845 until moving his family to CA in 1851. [He 1st m. MARTHA ANN LOTT 13 August 1845, Harrison Co., TX.] After death of 1st wife, he m. MIRIAM P. JOHNSON [b. ca 1824 in Georgia according to census of 1850] in Gonzales Co. on [20 April] 1847. She was reportedly b. in Caldwell, a member of an early area family. The 1850 census describes him as a hotel operator in Caldwell (or the Co.). The annotated Caldwell Co. census of 1850 enlarges some of the above, such as that George F. Fulgham "was stricken with gold fever" according to a 1908 newspaper. The census lists the following children: EZEKIAL, 17 y/o; JOHN, 15 y/o; BENJAMIN F.; 11 y/o (these 3 b. in MS); HENRY N., 7 y/o (b. in LA); GEORGE S. "1/12," y/o, (b. in TX). George was evidently m. four times [other marital information not furnished]. Beverly Fulgham Stafford, P. O. Box 159, Merimbula, New South Wales 1548, Australia; staffbp@asitis.net.au.

ROGERS/IVERSON Wanting clarification on information. GILES ROGERS, 1643-1730, his father, JOHN ROGERS, and mother, LUCY IVERSON ROGERS came to New Kent Co., VA in 1680. Giles was m. 1673 at Worcester, England, to RACHEL EASTHAM. Confusion is that another source (quoted in AGSQ 1962) gives Rachel's mother as Rachel Eastham. Can you assist me? Kenneth E. Dice, Jr, 60 Oak Point Drive, Moneta, Va 24121; (540)721-8041; kdice@aol.com.

[Editor sent referenced material from AGSQ, including names of persons who submitted it; however, being 40 years ago, those persons may be deceased. Related family material was sent from 1962 Vol III, #1, a total of nine pages, also noting discrepancies, which were not clarified.]

HART/BROWN Would appreciate any information related to my research. My father was ERNEST RAYMOND HART, b. 10 January 1898, Waco, TX, to THEODORE PICKNEY HART, b. 11 October 1875 in Grimes Co. TX [d. 9 February 1936 in Titus Co., TX]. and MATTIE P. HART, b. ca 1898, Waco, TX [MARGARETE, d. 26 March 1918, McLennan C., TX]. Great-grandmother: CYNTHIA ANNIE BROWN, b. 4 March 1851, Anderson, Grimes Co., TX. Theodore A. Hart, 19804 Westerly Avenue, Poolesville, MD 20837-2209.

Happy Hunting Ground Special Feature

Description of early Texas times, especially during the battles for independence.

The following letter has been transcribed from a January 2002 inquiry. Unfortunately, the subject name was not found on the monument or the The Handbook of Texas 1952 description of the San Jacinto monument and museum, but the letter details the recollections of the writer's (at age 83 years) grandmother. No editing or correction done:

January 18, 2002

Dear Friends

I am hunting information on a Great Great Uncle of mine - His name is _____ Fox. There is several Fox in DAR - but from different Areas--

He was a young unmarried man. He was born & raised in Sabine Parish Louisiana. The American Garrison was Fort Jessup - close to the present town of Robeline La. The French Garrison post of Rapides was just a bit South east of there. At Fort Jessup there was A Community Church that served all functions. Calling was by a large bell that was rung when a meeting of anything was necessary.

When the Alamo was under siege Sam Houston came up the river to the Fort enlisting help- At the gathering he explained (sic) the situation- All that could said they would go- They quickly went home for Guns & etc plus Food- My paternal Grandmother (Ann Fox) who was born there in 1856 explained what their food-for travel was jerky- deer, fat back - if lucky any hard fruit & edible raw vegetables They carried corn pone made of corn meal, soda, cane syrup & hot water

The Alamo had fallen before they could get there- They went on to San Jacinto for the finish- This young man was killed, his name on the monument there. [Not found, as noted above.;

At that time that was Sabine Free State just to the West (no mans Land) Los Adaio [?]- Old Tejas Capitol was there- It is now . a Historical Park- Fort Jessup is a State Park. Many records were lost.I attended many meetings there when I was young

I am 83 years of age & as you can see poor eyesight - trying to get what information I can while there is quality time

Each June issue of the Austin Genealogical Quarterly is specifically devoted to presentation of the genealogical and family history materials submitted by Society members, in line with a longstanding custom of the organization. This year there were submissions from only six members. We suspect many of our members may have been concerned about many other matters over and above genealogy during the unusual twelve months past, and can make generous allowance for that. We do thank those who have submitted material, much of it as historical as it may be genealogical, and trust all readers will find it both informative and quite interesting. —Ed.

Ancestors I Wish I'd Known

Peter Flagg Maxson

Several years ago, the Director of the Texas Historical Association, Ron Tyler, told a true story of a group of high school Junior Historians. They planned a play, the plot of which revolved around student actors representing different presidents -- Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and so forth down to Lyndon Johnson -- sitting in heaven discussing American current events. The student portraying President Johnson requested an audience with Mrs. Johnson, to discuss his voice, mannerisms, etc. and to his surprise she agreed to receive him in her office at the L.B.J. Library. He explained the premise of the play, presidents in heaven, and she looked him straight in the eye and said, "Young man, are you sure that's where Lyndon is?"

Since hearing that story, over the years I've idly pondered which forbears I would and would not enjoy meeting in the afterlife. I have a greater interest in family history than genealogy per se: not birth, marriage and death statistics, but learning how and where ancestors lived, with they did, what their world was like. Doubtless some ancestors I would not enjoy knowing and vice versa. I don't know what any number of Puritan ancestors (Roger Williams et al.) would make of me, and doubtless there are other forbears I would not see eye-to-eye on with such issues as religious fundamentalism or slavery.

Many ancestors seem unexciting -- worthy citizens, whose lives, one would believe, were never scarred by scandal or adventure. They tended their farms and flocks, went to church, married and had large families. But the occasional ancestor seems to have an extra spark, and a particularly eventful life. It is these who I would like to have known.

Often, the more one knows of a particular forbear, the more interesting they become.¹ I have Flagg family papers dating back 250 years, and know the whereabouts of others. I've found fascinating documents of family history: Grandfather Maxson's account of the Great Storm of 1900 in Galveston, and his wife letters home as a bride in Beaumont in 1909.² I found a thrice-great uncle's vivid account of moving from Virginia to Missouri in 1830, and Great-grandmother Goodrich's story of her father's slaughter by Missouri bushwhackers in the Civil War. But there are other ancestors about whom just enough information survives to make them intriguing.

² See Casey Edward Greene and Shelly Henley Kelly, Through Night of Terrors (2000); "A Connecticut Yankee in Beaumont, 1909," Texas Gulf Coast Historical Record (1995).

In 1692, my Quaker ancestress Sarah Hood Bassett (d. 1729) of Lynn, Mass. was denounced as a witch, imprisoned but not convicted. Her sisters-in-law Mary Bassett Derich and Elizabeth Bassett Proctor of Salem were similarly accused. Arthur Miller's famed play "The Crucible" was based on Aunt Elizabeth's harrowing experiences. The Flagg genealogy states, "in 1692 she was accused of witchcraft. [Her husband John] stood up nobly in her defense and was in turn accused of being a wizard.... He was hanged on Gallows Hill but she was pardoned on account of approaching motherhood." Sarah's daughter born after her release was named Deliverance. What stories these women could tell! And I'd be so interested to hear their 300-year old speech patterns and words.

My maternal male line founder, James deGolier (ca. 1725-1820), was born Paris. While family lore proclaims his family Huguenots, he apparently joined the French Army to thwart parental plans that he become a priest. Stationed in Canada, he tiptoed over the border to present day U.S., hatcheting Indian guides who he overheard planning to hatchet him. He married Jane Hatch of Sturbridge, Mass., whose forbears went back to 17th century Nantucket. Ever the pioneer and soldier, he fought in Revolutionary War, moved to increasingly remote areas of New York State and died in his 90s. I would have asked of his family and parentage, his decision to Canada, and the U.S. Doubtless he could relate adventures in the French and Continental armies.

Though contemporaneous, John Hart (1711-1779) was a different sort of patriot. A prosperous farmer in Hopewell, New Jersey, he was a local leader with an interest in politics. Speaker of the New Jersey Assembly 1776-78 and Signer of the American Declaration of Independence, he was hunted by British troops and sought refuge in fields, unable to visit his dying wife or see his large family. He himself died not long after.

Cousin Alice Flagg (1833-1849), the family ghost, was a member of the Georgetown County, South Carolina planter aristocracy. Her tomb at All Saints Parish, Waccamaw, near Pawley's Island is a favorite tourist destination and there is mumbo-jumbo about circling her grave backwards with eyes shut to find one's true love. Entire books have been written about her, but the amount of factual, primary source biographical data on Alice could fill one typewritten page. She reportedly fell in love, inappropriately, with a turpentine salesman, and her brother cast her locket into a nearby swamp. She went into decline, died at age 16, and haunts the swamp looking for the locket. Alas, the plantation house, called The Hermitage, was moved a few years ago and the swamp drained for a shopping center, so perhaps Alice haunts the developers. I would ask her if there is any truth whatsoever to the many stories told of her.

Gt. gt. grandfather Daniel W. Maxson (1836-1920) was orphaned at an early age, left for Texas in the late 1850s and finally arrived in 1900. His sheep were stolen along the way, and he married beautiful Louisa Myrick in Fort Scott, Kansas. I believe he was the only Civil War veteran among my forbears, and his experiences as a medic inspired him to become a doctor. I'd be very interested to learn more about his Civil War experiences. But I'd really badger him to learn the identity of his parents. To my chagrin, of my 32 thrice-great grandparents, the Maxsons are the only ones unidentified.

Cousin Alice Claypoole Gwynne Vanderbilt (1846-1934) born in Cincinnati to Abram and Aunt Rachel Flagg Gwynne. After her father's early death, the family moved to New York City. Teaching Sunday School there at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, Alice met and soon married Cornelius Vanderbilt, II, grandson of the redoubtable Commodore. They had a large family and built two palaces, The Breakers in Newport R.I. and 1 West 57th Street, perhaps the largest private home ever erected in New York City. Her husband died prematurely and she outlived four adult children³ Dutiful and perhaps dull, she could be formidable and is popularly portrayed as the archetypal flinty dowager. But her granddaughter Countess Sylvia Széchenyi Szápáry remembers her as "warm, intelligent, cozy and welcoming... with a delightful chuckle." Her young daughter-in-law Gloria Vanderbilt (Sr.) was once asked why she wore no pearls, and son Reginald replied he could not afford an appropriate necklace. She then ordered the butler to bring scissors and cut off a $50,000 strand of her own monumental pearl necklace. How I would love to sit in her drawing room with our 18th c. Flagg family portraits, and hear of her journey from being a Cincinnati schoolgirl to a New York grande dame.

Alice's first cousin, my handsome Great grandfather Charles Noël Flagg (1848-1916), had great joie de vivre. Scion of an aristocratic family with varying financial resources, he married an heiress and led a fascinating life in New York, Paris and even Hartford. He studied art in Paris in the 1870s, and became an accomplished artist painting many illustrious sitters -- various governors and captains of industry. But he also painted diverse subjects, including his Parisian washerwoman, various male models, imaginary landscapes with dancers, and my grandmother's toys. He founded an art school, became friends with Mark Twain and helped save the old Connecticut State House. After his daughter (my grandmother Marion Flagg Maxson) married and moved to Texas, Gt. grandfather visited in 1909, and sent a fascinating account to his family to his family on such varied topics as regional cuisine, prostitution in Beaumont and shipboard movie-making. Among other questions I would ask him who owned the ca. 1700 ancestral sword I inherited? In an 1890s letter to his wife, he crowed, "WE have the sword." But he didn't say who owned it, and, after 250 years, that information died with my grandmother.

As an architectural historian, I would certainly want to include on my list Charles' brother, Gt. gt. uncle Ernest Flagg (1857-1947), one of the finest American architects of his day. As a youth, he suggested plans for enlarging his cousin Alice Vanderbilt's palace on 5th Ave. That so impressed her husband, Cornelius Vanderbilt II, that he paid for Uncle Ernest's studies at the prestigious Ecole de Beaux Arts in Paris. Uncle Ernest went on to design nationally significant projects, such as Bancroft Hall, the Chapel and other buildings at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis; several fine buildings for his brother-in-law Charles Scribner in New York City; the Singer Building,⁴ also in New York; Washington D.C.'s Corcoran Gallery; and his own estate on Staten Island and Park Ave town house with its automobile elevator. At age 42, he married the youthful Margaret Bonnell, and lived almost 50 years longer. I would love to discuss his architectural career with him, his favorite projects, successes and failures. His definitive family genealogy, immodestly titled Genealogical Notes on the Founding of New England would also doubtless arise, and I'd ask what he did with his research materials!

Quite different was Great-grandfather John William DeGolyer (1859-1936). Born in Napoleon, Indiana, he lost his father when he was six years old. He lived in many places, and was an Indian Territory Boomer; an unsuccessful prospector; proprietor of DeGolyer's Chop House in Joplin, Missouri; and a farmer in Norman, Okla. His eldest son Everett, born in a sod house in Greensburg, Kansas, became one of the great Texans of his day. But Grandfather's drive for success may have been motivated in part by his father's failures. Mother remembers John and his wife Narcissus Kagy Huddle DeGolyer in old age, on a lovely farm Grandfather bought for them in Pompton Plains, New Jersey, in a substantial Victorian farmhouse dispensing excellent food, humor, love and affection. Not a successful man in the eyes of the world, but by family lore quite wonderful. I'd ask him about life as a Kansas pioneer, dodging the tornado that nearly killed his family. I'd like to hear of his participation as Boomer in the Oklahoma land rushes. And I'd love to learn his chili recipe, much discussed but never duplicated in the fifty years after his death.

³ Her son Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt had reservations on the Titanic and later went down on the Luisitania.

⁴ The Singer Building was briefly the tallest building ever built and, until the World Trade Center disaster, the tallest building ever demolished.

His bachelor brother-in-law Prof. John Benjamin Huddle (1868-1920) was a renaissance man. A family genealogy⁵ states, "He was a promising lad, a friend of that period of life has called him pleasing in manner, sensible, intelligent and studious.... He studied constantly and later passed a brilliant examination for a state certificate with the highest honor ever granted a teacher in the State of Ill. Later he attended Illinois University and there passed the most difficult examination with a record of 100 percent. He was widely known as a progressive educator.... His practical and novel methods of imparting knowledge have met with much success, and he was widely known as an authority on many subjects. He also was among the best of mechanics, an expert jeweler, watch-maker and repairer. He was an expert cabinet-maker, carpenter and builder, and was specially proficient in metal work. He invented and sold to a St. Louis factory an acetylene torch for welding. He was an expert scientist and read most of the works of scientific men. He knew more of the care and breeding of poultry for profit and for show than many professionals, and carefully studied agriculture and gardening. He knew literature and history, not only popular and widely known selections, but also the more obscure, difficult and beautiful. He was an excellent musician, read music easily, taught vocal and instrumental music, sang and played well. His heart was large and often dictated his actions toward the unfortunate and afflicted. Many times as a teacher, he provided shoes and clothing and food for poor children; also helped his teachers, often teaching for them, coached them for higher examinations and aided them in advancing themselves and the cause of education. He often wrote articles for publication and many of his poems will be long remembered.... Professor Huddle spent almost 26 years in public life. He was principal at the Alta Sita School, and at the time of his death [at age 52], he was superintendent of the Irving School at East St. Louis, Ill. Schools were dismissed and East St. Louis principals were pallbearers." I don't think I'd need to talk with this forbear -- just sit at his feet, listen and try to follow his example.

My father's first cousin Billy Maxson (Lt. Willis Edward Maxson, III)⁶ (1920-1943) seemed to have it all. The handsome son of a Wichita Falls oil man, he graduated from Culver Military Academy with a near-perfect record, and was an outstanding cadet at the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Breaking tradition, he married⁷ the day after his graduation lovely Mary (Chuchu) Waltman of Austin. A Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Navy, he was fatally wounded by random shot on the submarine USS Skate. Days later he died on the Skate near Wake Island in the Pacific, at age 23, died several days later and was buried at sea. His widow gave birth to their only child five weeks later. His life was eventful but short. Were we to meet, I'd try to communicate to him that almost sixty years after his death, his widow and brother still miss him, and his granddaughters and indeed a new generation revere the courage and sacrifice which characterized him and his comrades in World War II.

J. Frank Dobie Says

Heritage of Earth Leaves Mark on Man

By J. FRANK DOBIE

Sixty-two and a half years ago I was born in a rock room on a small ranch in Live Oak county, Texas. My father owned the ranch before he and my mother were married. After he died in 1920, she kept it until her death something over two years ago. Today, as one of six heirs I have signed a piece of paper that passes ownership of the land from my blood to strange hands. Unending time with its ceaseless changes may see another human being on that land with roots into it as deep as mine, but not soon I think. Now it is a piece of property. In a little while it shall be a clod of earth. Until then, no matter who the owner, my roots, invisible and not material, in that land will be irradicable.

In a way I feel I have betrayed that plot of land for a piece of money, though I am sure the purchasers will do more to restore it than my family have done. For many years we have been absentee owners, and during the greater part of that time it has been leased to individuals interested -- by circumstances and inherited attitudes -- only in what profit they could wring out of it.

NOT RICH LAND

It is not a rich land. Poor soil and thorned brush make a portion of it forbidding. Sweep of hills and valleys, wooded Ramireña creek, and live oak trees -- one of them the noblest in Live Oak county -- make most of the land gracious. Certain sites, the old Spanish ranch-fort especially, tell tales. I began listening in this piece of earth talk while I was a child. When my father came to the land, Ramireña creek ran clear water the year round; when I was a youth, it had lasting waterholes, stocked with fish; for a third of a century now, it has been bone dry except after rains.

Erosion. I will stick up for the old ranch as a ranch. I'd like to have cattle on it. Owing to game conservation in the area, it has more deer and turkeys than it had a generation ago. In a seasonable spring it is very beautiful. Drouths have brought anguish to its users, mainly because they over used and were not fair to it.

I left it in 1906, when I went off to college and my family moved to the town of Beeville, 27 horse miles over a weary road to the east, where we used to trade. For years after I left, I spent summers on the ranch. I have never ceased returning to it with eagerness. It has been a place where I belonged and on which I have felt free in the way that one can be only in a house of serenity, on his own piece of earth. It has said more to me than any person I have ever read, but only through associating with fine minds and spirits have I come to know what it was saying.

It is hardly seemly for me to talk on a subject so intimate, but as a writing man I want to say what is in me. My trouble is being clear, clear to myself as well as to others. There is no sentimentality about the feelings, not even sentiment. The subject is not for rationalization. What I have is instinct strengthened by a certain sensitivity. In the beginning of his career as a stockman my father raised horses, traded them, and drove a herd or two to Kansas. I used to hear talk about mares driven away from southern Texas to Arkansas and other far away places that in the spring came home to have their colts on the ground where they perhaps had been born and where they had other colts. This was before there were fences. The instinct in me is the instinct that was in those homing mares. I can think and use words; they couldn't.

OUR RANCH HOUSE

Our ranch house, the main part of which stands, is in an extensive grove of live oak trees on a little plateau of sandy land overlooking the valley of Long Hollow. Formerly little more than a gully, Long Hollow is now a deep and wide gulch. Erosion. The valley was a field, and then it was a grassed pasture. Now it is dense thicket of mesquites and huisaches, the latter plant having come to our land within the last 20 years or so. Thousands of times I have looked across the valley, and something from those vistas is deep inside me. One spring the bluebonnets there were up to my stirrups. They are inside me too. In my study I cherish a little painting of Mexican primroses, made and given me by Eula Whitehouse, author of "Texas Flowers in Natural Colors". It speaks to me of the Mexican primroses I knew on Long Hollow as a child. In the mornings of spring and early summer I often awoke hearing the quick, bright, flying cry made by diving scissortails. Countless times since, a glimpse of the salmon-hued underpart of a flying scissortail has brought back to me those morning awakenings.

The house had a yard fence around it and in the yard were more flowers than any other ranch in that part of Texas had. At the inside corner of a wide L-shaped gallery grew a cape jasmine. Its aroma has never left me. Back of the house was a rock smokehouse, now crumbled down, in which my father smoked bacon from a smoldering fire of corncoals. A corncorn cast away on the ground often brings back to me that smoke. The sides of bacon were hung on poles by leaves of beargrass that had been held over a fire to make the fiber more pliable. That -- not bears -- is what beargrass means to me.

POMEGRANATES

Back of the house were pomegranate bushes, the fruit of which was a rare treat. Near the pomegranates grew a large oak into which a hardy mustang grapevine twined. This oak was called the coon tree, and we children had a platform house in it, to which we ascended by means of the grapevine and on which we sat reading books, playing, and sometimes drinking (without ice of course) pomegranateade.

On back of the coon tree were pens for milk cows and horses, sheds and a large barn, in which were stalls for saddles, buggies, and tools as well as for horses. In front of this barn the sandy ground had been paved with caliche. Red ants covered by the caliche had bored through it, and during the warm months they worked day and night.

EARLY RISE

My father was always an early riser. When he was working cattle, or running cattle as the phrase went, he always had his men out and away from the ranch house before daylight. Even when we were not running cattle, I, as the oldest boy, walked often before daylight into the little horse pasture to find a horse on which to ride after the remuda. Many a dark morning

I have stooped over here and there in order to skylight the night horse. While we were saddling our horses on the caliche ground before daylight, they would stamp in order to knock off red ants crawling above their heels.

For several years after I went off to college, I half-awakened before daylight every morning to the sound of those horses stamping their feet on caliche. I could hear the low voices of Mexicans saying indistinguishable words, and I could hear the plopping down of saddles on horse backs and metal clicks of stirrup rings and spurs. This maternal experience gradually ceased. I never hear those sounds before daylight any more, but the memory of both the actuality and the half-dream is a part of me.

COULD WRITE BOOK

I think I could write a book detailing what the R. J. Dobie ranch has instilled into my nature. It will be there 1000, 10,000 years hence. It will have other names, be divided. The time may come when people upon it will speak a tongue no one living now could understand. No one living now could understand what the Saxons were saying 1000 years ago. The thought of times in which I shall not participate does not depress me in the least, but when I think of having made a break with that plot of land to which I am more closely kin than to any other substance on earth, I feel the end of something has come, an epoch important to me, though of no consequence to other people, has ended.

Attachment to a certain patch of the earth's surface is very different to a country or to a principle. With some people it has amounted to principles.

This clipping was found in my husband's mother's papers. She left a bunch of things she liked. It's not exactly genealogy but if nothing else, it's an interesting outlook on one's heritage----

FAMILY LEGEND

"Aunt Tish"

Aunt Tish came into our family by marrying Uncle John during the sunset of his life. He had been in the rest home for awhile when Tish started working there as a licensed vocational nurse. She lavished lots of attention on poor old Uncle John and before long he was smitten with her. She wasted no time in getting the preacher to come and make them man and wife.

Shortly after the wedding, we started getting reports from the rest home of accidents involving Uncle John. Were sure that Tish was responsible so she could inherit Uncle John's money. One time his wheel chair was pushed off the porch and luckily he only sustained a broken leg.

Tish had been a member of the Banditos motorcycle gang in her younger years and still had a passion to ride the open road. She insisted that John needed to experience that freedom and sneaked him out of the home for a "real" honey-moon. It was several weeks before we located them and had her return John to the home.

After Uncle John's untimely death, Tish descended on her newly acquired relatives whenever she was in town for a motorcycle rally. We all feared that we'd come home from work to discover she had arrived. She was the member of the family we all tried to make feel unwelcome, but she never took the hint!!!!

Origin of "Aunt Tish"

Sometime in the late 1950's "Aunt Tish" became a member of our family. We were having a family gathering in the back yard of my parents; Bill and Dorothy Shinder in Corpus Christi, Texas. Everyone(Orville and Sally Aday, Albert and Irma Shadday,Richard and Wilma Shadday,Bill and Dorothy Shinder and their children; Vivian, Bill Jr., and David) was sitting in a large circle. All the adult men and Wilma were at one end of circle engrossed in a conversation which excluded the rest of the family.

My mother, Dorothy, started talking about "Tish". She told about her marrying poor Uncle John and pushing him out the window and breaking his leg. Then Bill, Jr. and I added to the tale and longer the story the more laughter it generated. Finally the others stopped their conversation to hear what was so funny. The story was then shared with them. Later Orville asked Sally why he was never told about that aunt because he had been in the family a long time. Also Wilma questioned Richard about the "newest" relative.

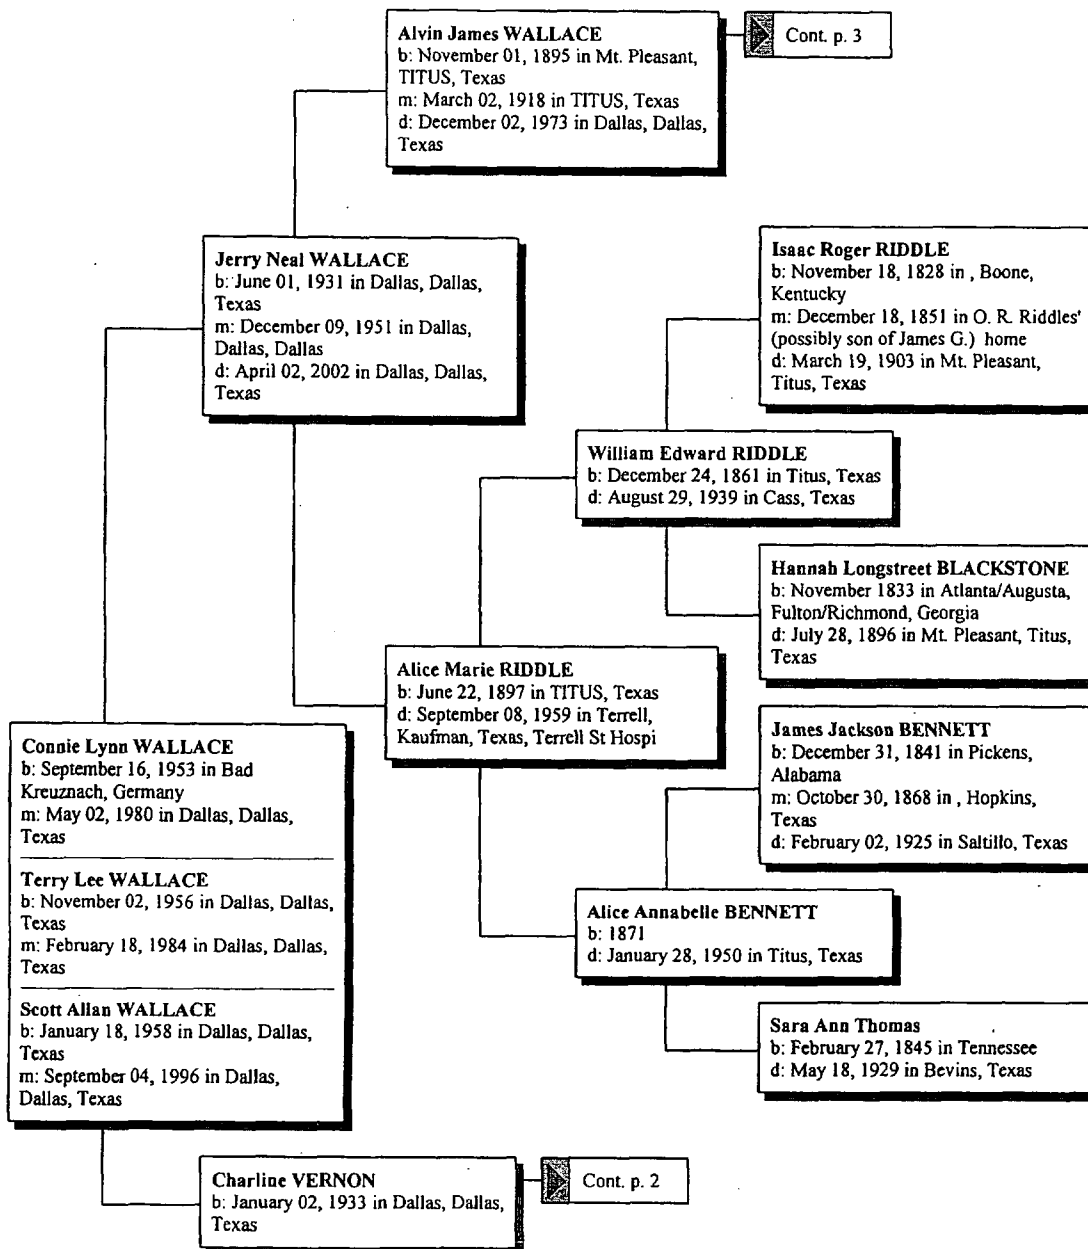

Barry(Sally's reunited son) and his wife Jan had joined the family when "Aunt Tish: reemerged. Jan couldn't believe her ears when she was told that "Tish" belonged to the Banditos; a motorcycle gang and she would visit family members whenever she was on the open road. Several weeks later, Jan called Helen at work in a state of panic. She had received a post card that "Aunt Tish" was on her way to meet the newest members of the family and she didn't know what to do. Helen told her not to panic and hopefully the visit would be a short one.(Dorothy had sent the card).

After that"Aunt Tish" stories and sightings would crop up at family gatherings with each member trying to outdo the others with tales of her escapades.

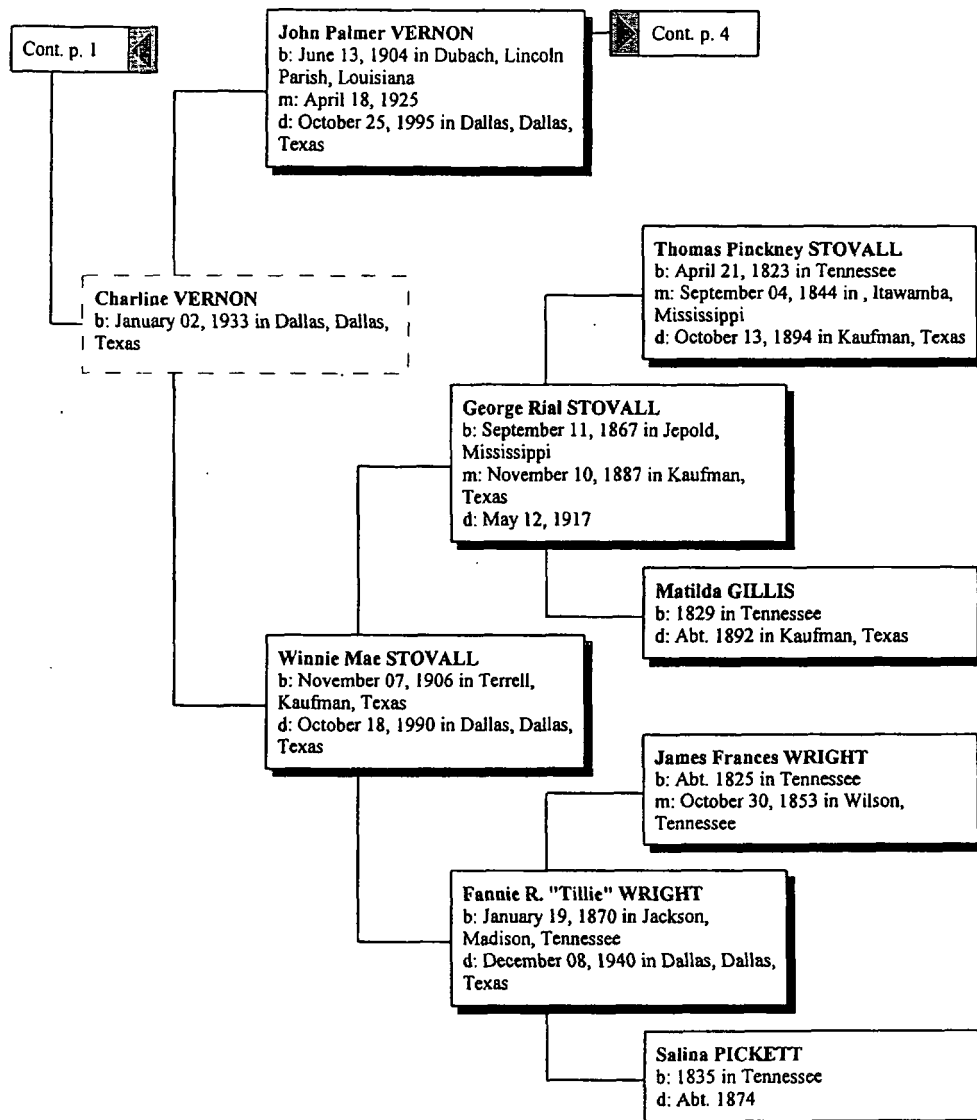

Imagine my surprise when going through postcards, I found one addressed to Vivian Shadday in 1924 and signed by Aunt Tish in Louisville, Kentucky. What do you know? We really had an Aunt Tish In the family.

THE NASH FAMILY COMES TO TEXAS

Congregating in San Augustine, Anderson Counties

By Betsy Tyson

Albert Fletcher Nash (1828-1893) reached Texas in 1871. My great-great grandfather was 43, and, like so many who left North Carolina after the Civil War, Albert and his family were barely surviving.

In 1860, in his home county of Stanly, Albert and his first wife, my great-great grandmother Onea Parker (1828-1865) and their five children farmed on land valued at $800, with personal property worth $480. In 1870, Albert, his second wife Laura Kendall (1835-1926), and nine of his ten children by both wives were living in neighboring Anson County. This was Laura's home county, and Albert owned no land and valued his personal property at $150 -14% of his 1860 declaration. Albert's sister-in-law Charlotte Kendall (1836-1943), her husband Frank Knight (1834-1909), and infant daughter had left in 1869 to join a migration west with 52 other families. The journey began, as she later recounted, by wagon from Ansonville to the railway station in nearby Cherow, South Carolina, where they boarded a train to Mobile. From Mobile they went by boat to New Orleans and up the Mississippi to the mouth of the Red River. After disembarking at Shreveport, the families scattered, with Charlotte and Frank's family traveling eighty miles in five days to Patroon Creek in Shelby County in the Piney Woods of deep East Texas.

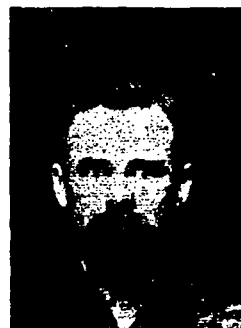

Albert's oldest son, John Franklin, (1851-1933) recalled many years later that he was 19 when he reached Shelby County with his father, stepmother, and siblings William Clarkston "Clark" (1853-1907), Henry Alexander (1854- ?), Vashti Lanora "Nora" (1857-1932); Walter Randolph (1858-?), Mary Tabitha "Molly" (1860-1938), my great grandfather Jules Edwin (1862-1939), Louisa Frances "Lou" (1864-1940), and half-siblings Eugene (1866-?), and Robert Albert (1869-?). Shelby County had escaped destruction during the Civil War and was never occupied by Federal troops during Reconstruction, making it a peaceful haven after North Carolina. In December, 1871 John Franklin Nash, 20, married Amanda "Mandy" Burt (1853-1930) of Shelby County and they may have remained there most of the decade.

Albert and family soon moved to San Augustine County, south of Shelby and further into the Piney Woods. His in-laws Charlotte and Frank Knight also settled there. The Nash farm was located on Palo Gauch Creek east of the county seat, San Augustine city. A.F. Nash first appeared on the county tax rolls as a landowner in 1873. His older children were soon marrying within the county. In 1874 Clark Nash, 21, married Rosa St. Claire Wilson (1855-1923). Clark became a horse trader and was at one time possibly a constable. (The Nash and Wilson families already knew each other. Rev. Albert F. Nash in 1873 had officiated when Rosa's younger sister Courtney Jennetta Wilson wed Bonneau Broadnax in San Augustine and in 1875 when Rosa's older sister, Lelia James Wilson married William Stanley. This confirms the family legend that Albert Nash was a circuit-riding Methodist preacher in North Carolina.) In 1876, Nora Nash married a Confederate veteran, William Lumpkin, originally of Georgia. Married at 19, Nora was 22 when William died, leaving her with two small children. Molly Nash was 22 when she married Charlie Smith (1851-1923) in 1882. They farmed near her father and had six children.

Albert and Laura's last five children were born in San Augustine County: James Spillman (1872-?), Ida Mac (1873-1912), Texia Carolina (1879-1872) in 1879, Arthur Vance (1881-?), and Florence Fletcher (1882-?). Albert and Laura's children all made their homes in San Augustine County. Robert Albert married Lizzie Thomson (b. 18-69-?) in 1894. James Spillman in 1896 married Agnes (1875-?). About 1896 Ida Mae married James Hardy Stephenson (1870-1901) and later Joe Stephenson. Texia Carolina Nash married James Laurence Smith (1876-1935) in 1904. The children of Albert's first family with Onea were less inclined to stay put and when they moved they followed the lead of their oldest brother.

Around 1878 John Franklin Nash would move his family to Anderson County, at the western edge of the Piney Woods. It was in the midst of an economic boom, thanks to a bond issue approved in 1875 that persuaded the International-Great Northern Railroad (IGN) to locate its machine, repair shops, and headquarters in Palestine, the county seat. Five years later, by 1880, the population in both Anderson County and Palestine had doubled. John F. Nash prospered as a truck farmer, shipping fruit to Galveston, Houston, and New Orleans. His family grew to 13 children, 10 living to adulthood. He also became a civic leader in Palestine. He was county commissioner for six years, justice of the peace for two years, and one of the founders of Grace Methodist Church.

Exactly when John's brother Jules - possibly Walter - and sisters Nora and Lou moved to Palestine is not yet known. In 1882 Nora, 24, married Robert Thresto (1849-1920), born in Georgia, who farmed and worked for the railroad in Anderson County. In 1883, Lou, 19, married William S. "Willy" Bridges (1863-1902), also born in Georgia. They farmed in Anderson County and he worked as a carpenter. On 17 January 1884, the last of Albert and Onea's children married. My great grandfather Jules Edwin Nash, 22, wed Lydia Grace "Liddie" Smith (1861-1908). Born in Illinois, she was one of the first women to graduate from Sam Houston Normal in Huntsville. Jules and Liddie married in a double ceremony along with her sister Maggie Helen (1866-1945) and Will Cockerham (1858-1939) at the First Christian Church in Palestine. In 1884 and 1885 J.F. Nash, J.E. Nash, and W.R. Nash appeared on the Anderson County tax rolls. W.R. was not listed after that. In 1900 John, Jules, Lou, Nora and their families were in Anderson County.

Jules and Liddie had four children: my grandmother Clara Ona (1888-1971), Albert Harvey "Bert" (1890-1906), Florence Electa (1892-1931), and Mary Alice (abt. 1894-1900).

On 24 December 1909 in Palestine Clara Ona Nash, 21, married Henry Furman Cheatham (1882-1957) of Abbeville, South Carolina. Henry had come to Palestine as a conductor for IGN railroad (later Missouri Pacific). They had four children, Sarah Electa (1911-2001), my mother Mary Grace (1912-2000), Ruby Nell (1916-), and James Henry "Jimmy" (1922-1986). Clara Nash Cheatham lived the rest of her life at 616 N. Fowler Street in the house Henry bought when they married.

On 25 November 1910 Florence Nash married William Alexander "Will" Brule (1887-1978). They lived off and on in Palestine, as Will was a master mechanic for various railroads, mainly The Cotton Belt. His job forced Will, Florence and children William Albert "Bill" (1912-1996), Frederick Alexander (1913-1986), Minnette (1915-), Joseph "Joe" (1917-2000), and John Rene "Jack" (1927-) to live where the railroad needed him in Texas and Louisiana.

In the summer of 1893, Albert Fletcher Nash broke his leg and never recovered. The family moved his bed to the back porch to keep cool and from there he could see a hill with beautiful trees on it. Albert picked that hill for his burial place. In 2002, descendants of Albert Fletcher Nash still live in Palestine and San Augustine - 131 years after Albert brought his family to Texas.

Research Question: In the 1900 census, Walter R. Nash, born 1858 in North Carolina, farmed in Jones County, near Abilene. In 1900 Henry Nash, born 1854 in North Carolina, farmed with his wife Mattie and children in Titus County. Are these the sons of Albert and Onea Nash?

FINDING A GRAVE

SECTIONS:

The cemetery has been divided into two groups of sections. The original cemetery is called the "Old Section". The Old Section has been divided into four and labeled "1", "2", "3", and "4". The old section also has a tract that is exclusive for the Heep family. The newer part of the cemetery is labeled "New Section" and has parts labeled "A", "B", "C", "D", "E", and "F". There is a row of graves in the southeast corner of the cemetery that contains only infants. See accompanying map. As of the date of the completion of this survey, there were no graves in section F.

ROWS:

Within each section there are rows of graves. The old sections, particularly section "1", has rows that are not straight. There are some large trees in among the graves that adds to the confusion in trying to determine where the rows are situated. In the old sections and in sections "A" and "B", the rows are numbered from left to right, (when one faces north). In the rest of the sections the rows are numbered from right to the left. This corresponds to the numbering contained in the cemetery plat maps that the caretaker shared with the recorders.

In the old sections the count of rows is approximate because the rows are not straight. Section 1 has 27 rows. Section 2 has 12 rows. Section 3 has 23 rows. Section 4 has 12 rows. Section A has 21 rows. Section B has 11 rows. Section C has 3 rows. Section D has 6 rows. Section E has 11 rows. Section F has 17 rows. The Heep section has approximately six rows.

BURIAL PLOTS (GRAVES):

The graves in the old sections are numbered in sequence beginning with one (1) and continuing until the last grave in that row is encountered. In section "1" the graves were not placed in uniform distance from each other and consequently graves are not evenly spaced row to row. The graves in the other old sections are not evenly spaced either. The graves in the new sections are numbered by the plot in which they are contained. Each plot in the new section can contain up to three graves. The plots are uniform in size and are in straight rows.

The graves in sections "A" are numbered from one to ten from the top to the bottom as the section is viewed from the southwest corner of the section. The numbering of the graves in section A begins in the northwest corner of the section and proceeds to the south in each row. The plots in the section "B" were numbered beginning with the grave in the lower left hand corner of the section (southwest corner) and proceed to the north in each row until all rows in the section are filled. In the remaining sections ("C" thru "F") the numbering of the gravesites begins in the lower right corner of the section (southeast corner of the section) and proceeds to the north in each row until the section is filled. In all of the new sections the plot size is standardized and this lends to an orderly layout of the graves. In the "Old Section" the plot size does not appear to have been standardized.

In section A there are ten plots per row.

In section B there are 46 plots per row in rows "1" and "2". There are 39 plots per row in rows «3" thru «11".

In section C there are 46 plots per row numbered "1" thru "45" followed by plot number 45A. (e.g.: 1 thru 45, 45a in row 1 then 46 thru 90, 90a in row 2, etc.). This is the way the plots are labeled in the cemetery plat.

In sections D and E there are 46 plots per row and are labeled the same as in section C.

In section F there are 46 plots per row in the first rows from right to the left. The next nine rows contain 31 plots per row. The last plot in each row is labeled as the "A" version of the plot before it. (the same scheme as in section C).

EXAMPLE:

If a grave is at 162 in section E, the row is determined by dividing 162 by 45 which is three with 27 remainder which is the 27th plot in row 4 (four) of the section.

If a grave is at 180 in section B the row is determined by subtracting 92 (for the first two rows) from 180 resulting in 88. Then 88 is divided by 39 which gives two with a remainder of 10. The result is that the grave is in plot 10 of the fifth row of section B.

Jonathan D. Galli is Director of the Genealogical Speakers Guild and has been actively working in the field of genealogy for twenty years, utilizing record centers in Italy, Nova Scotia, Washington, DC, and throughout the northeast.

Jonathan was appointed by the Governor of RI to the RI Historical Records Advisory Board and is the editor of Rhode Island Roots, the journal of RI Genealogical Society, and past editor of Lo Specchio, the newsletter of the Italian Genealogical Society of America.

Jonathan is a Director of the New England Regional Genealogical Conference and was the 1997 Conference Co-Chairman. He is the founder and past president of the Italian Genealogical Society of America, and an active member of several other genealogical and historical organizations including the Association of Professional Genealogists.

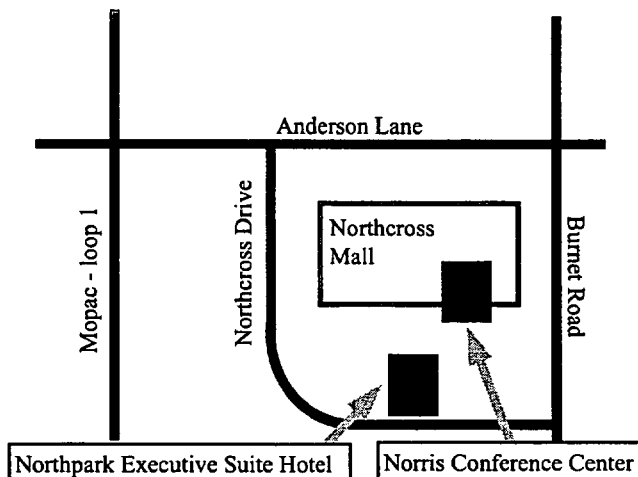

Previously employed at NEHGS directing their research and photocopy service, Jonathan is the proprietor of American Ancestral Associates, a full-service genealogical company. He actively engages in client research and consultation, presents lectures on a wide range of topics in genealogy, designs workshops, seminars and conferences, and authors and edits genealogical articles, newsletters, journals and books.

Jonathan's experience includes all time periods of general American research, with emphasis on New England, and specializes in Italian research. His areas of expertise also include 19th & 20th century immigration, Nova Scotia, and 19th century England.

How's your DNA? - get it tested at the Seminar

Brigham Young University and the Sorenson Molecular Genealogy Foundation have joined efforts in creating a worldwide genealogical genetic database. They invite your participation at the August 24, 2002 Genealogical Seminar in Austin, TX where representatives from the Molecular Genealogy Research Project will provide an overview about the study at 8:00 AM and will be collecting samples throughout the seminar on a volunteer basis. You will need to provide a copy of your pedigree chart at the time of the conference. For more information visit the project websites at <http://molecular-genealogy.byu.edu> and at www.smgf.org.

The Austin Genealogical Society

GENERAL INFORMATION

PURPOSE: Austin Genealogical Society was organized in 1960 as a not-for-profit corporation chartered by the State of Texas. Its purposes are to collect and preserve genealogical and historical information about the people of Texas, particularly pertaining to the City of Austin and to Travis and surrounding counties; to instruct and assist members in genealogical research; and to publish public and private records of genealogical interest. In addition, the AGS supports the Genealogical Collection, Texas State Library by donations of books and other genealogical material. Gifts and bequests to AGS are tax-deductible to the full extent permitted by law.

MEMBERSHIP is open to all upon payment of annual dues. Classes: Individual: $20; Family (two in the same household): $30.00; Patron of AGS: $100.00; Lifetime: $500.00 ($300 if over 65). All classes entitle one copy of each Quarterly and monthly Newsletter, as well as two pages apiece (a total of four pages for Family or higher whether one or two people submit listings) in the Ancestor Listing issue (June). After 1 July, dues are $10.00 for the balance of the year, but you will only receive the publications produced after the date you join. Membership includes receipt of the annual Membership Handbook which is published each Spring.

DUES FOR EXISTING MEMBERS ARE PAYABLE on or before JANUARY FIRST of each year for the ensuing year. If dues are not received by 1 February, the name must be dropped from the mailing list. If membership is reinstated later and Quarterlies and Newsletters have to be mailed individually, postage must be charged. (Back Quarterlies are supplied only IF available--very few extras are printed). Send payment to AGS Treasurer, P.O. Box 1507, Austin TX 78767-1507.

MEETINGS of the general membership begin at 7:30 p.m. on the fourth Tuesday of each month except August and December. Members are encouraged to come as early as 6:30 to socialize with each other. MEETING PLACE: Highland Park Baptist Church, 5206 Balcones Dr.. Take Northland (FM 2222) exit off Loop 1 (Mopac). Go west one block to Balcones Dr, then left 1 ½ blks. The Church and parking lot are on right. VISITORS ARE ALWAYS WELCOME. The Board of Directors meets at 6:15 in a separate room.

BOOK REVIEW POLICY: Books on appropriate subjects related to genealogy will be reviewed, but CANNOT be reviewed in AGSQ on the basis of advertising alone. If a review copy is received by the Review Editor at 2202 W. 10th. St., Austin TX 78703 by the first of February, May, August or October, it will be reviewed in the next Quarterly, space permitting. It will then be placed in the Genealogy Collection, Texas State Library, available to all patrons.

CHECK RETURN POLICY: Members and other payees must pay AGS the cost of any returned check (currently $5.00) over and above the charge their bank may impose.

AGS QUARTERLY is issued about the middle of March, June, September and November. Contributions are welcome, subject to editing for style/size. Contributor is completely responsible for accuracy and any copyright infringement. AGS assumes no responsibility for content of submitted material. See inside front cover for address.

ANCESTOR LISTING PAGES (June issue of Quarterly) must reach the Editor at 4500 Hyridge Drive, Austin TX 78759-8054 by the TENTH OF MAY. They must be BLACK and LEGIBLE, whether typed, hand-written, computer-printed or in superior calligraphy. Months must be SPELLED or abbreviated, not in figures. DATES SHOULD BE SHOWN in accepted genealogical style, that is, DAY, MONTH, YEAR (4 no;s.). Allow space for binding at inner margins of facing pages; i.e., your first page will be a left-hand page. Carefully check horizontal pages (reading in the 11-inch direction). Otherwise, the Editor has to position some pages upside down to prevent loss of data in the stapling-punching process. NO 8½ x14 sheets, please! You may submit Lineage or Family Group charts, Ahnentafels, narratives, cemetery inscriptions, Bible records, census data, queries, or a combination of material, just so it is not under copyright. BE SURE to proofread your material for accuracy and clarity so we will not publish faulty or incorrect data. Put name and address of submitter on each page in legible form (not blind embossed). Consult a recent June Quarterly for suggestions. Remember that reproductions are dimmer than originals so try to provide good quality originals.

REMEMBER: Individual membership secures two facing pages.
Family or higher membership allows you four pages.

DEADLINES for everything in the Quarterly except book reviews: 10th of February, May, August and October. Material sent addressed only to AGS Box Number may not reach Editor in time.
